

Commercial Science & Tech Community Residential Education Healthcare Transport Masterplanning Sustainability

PADDINGTON STATION TICKET HALL

PADDINGTON

First Group has rebranded the train line operating out of Paddington Station as Great Western Railways, developing a new corporate identity and design style that evokes the heyday of the Great Western Railway.

As part of this roll out project Oxford Architects were given the key role of refurbishing the ticket offices at Paddington Station. The project, within the Grade I Listed Building, included new desking, ticket machines and high quality finishes and was completed within 16 weeks.

PROJECT DETAILS

• SCOPE

Ticket hall within iconic Grade I Listed station

• ROLE

Architect

• CONTRACTOR

Raymond Brown Construction

• CLIENT

Great Western Railway

• VALUE

£1.5m

• DATES

Completed 2016

KEY ASPECTS

- Working within Grade I Listed building
- Improved staff facilities
- Realising the clients brand vision within the built environment
- Enhanced customer experience

